

Myrtilla Hampshire

Myrtilla Hampshire was a black servant girl whose employer is unknown. She died in 1755. Her funeral is notable for there being several black people who were mourners as well as six black men acting as pallbearers.

Engraving of St Swithin's Church, Walcot, where Myrtilla's funeral took place