He was forced to walk over to Falmouth to borrow one from the Revd Robert Platt, and then return it, for the priest had to borrow one himself." From A History of the Post-Reformation Catholic Missions in Oxfordshire by Mrs Bryan Stapleton (OUP, 1906)  "From the Register of Waterperry :  'July 28th, 1795. I baptised on this day at Oxford Robert Platt, son of Mr. Robert Platt and Mary his wife, born the day before at Oxford in St. Aldate's Parish. Godfather, C. Leslie. GodMother, Mrs. Sarah Kempster. C. Leslie, Clerk.'  Charles Platt son of Mr. Robert Platt and Mary his wife, buried in the Confessional. His sister Sarah an infant was buried close by him.'  Several more baptisms of the children of the same family continue in the second Register.  The above-mentioned Robert Platt lived to become a priest and Canon of Plymouth. Oliver says of him :  'He studied at Ampleforth, thence matriculated in the English College at Rome. Promoted to Holy Orders in Rome, ordained priest 1824. In Oct. the same year he was placed on the Mission at Axminster, and at Christmas 1826 sent to Lanherne; he was also at Swansea and Falmouth where he remained for nearly twelve years. The Mission in 1843 was made over to the Redemptorist Fathers, and Mr. Platt was ordered to leave by the Bishop, Dr. Baines. He was now dependent upon the unfortunate and vacillating policy which governed Prior Park, and for some time remained unemployed and his salary in arrears. The Catholic establishment of Falmouth directed a touching appeal to the Bishop begging him to leave Mr. Platt amongst them, but without avail.'  Rev. Robert Platt (Diocese of Clifton) died Oct. 24th, 1876"

The deceased gentleman was a member of an old Roman Catholic family, who for many years have held land in the parish of Englishcombe, and he was unknown in the domain of public life. Some years ago he was a member of the Town Council, and he occupied a seat at the Board of Guardians for Englishcombe since its formation, styling himself on this account “the father of the Board.” For the past eleven years he was a vice-chairman of the Board, and ably presided over its deliberations in the absence of Major Allen and his predecessor, Mr. J. W. Bush. He was also a Land Tax Commissioner for the city. Mr. Day possessed good business capacities, being a man of shrewd common sense, and of an

Those who knew him will no less remember him for his strongly marked sense of humour, than for the sarcastic observations which fell from his lips, which always caused merriment at the Board meetings. In private life Mr. Day was held in high esteem, and his kindness to the poor will cause his loss to be regretted by many who have been recipients of his charity. His remains were interred on Tuesday morning at the Roman Catholic cemetery in this city, and in the evening the bells of St. John's, South-parade, rang a muffled peal. Mr. George Fisher, the house steward, who superintended the refreshments and luncheon for the above mentioned cricket match, was taken suddenly ill last Sunday morning, and before Mr. Hillier, the surgeon, from Lambourne, could reach the place, he was a corpse. He had been in good health up to the very day of his death, but, on awaking on that morning, said he did not feel quite well, and would lie an hour or two longer; he, however, became rapidly worse, and almost before any one knew that he was unwell he had breathed his last. Lord Craven's family, who were at church at the time, were most shocked when they heard of the melancholy event, as Mr. Fisher was greatly esteemed and respected, and held in the highest regard by the Earl himself. 		From Institute of Civil Engineering -Minutes of the Porceedings Volume 109 Issue 1892418:  “EDWARD DAMES HANILL, only son of the late Mr. Hugh Hamill, of Hartfield, co. Dublin, was born in 1816. After being educated at Stoneyhurst, he served a regular pupilage under the late Mr. H. H. Price, Civil Engineer. He was then for three years Assistant Resident Engineer on the construction of the Chippenham district of the Great Western Railway, on the completion of which he entered into partnership with Mr. A. B. Frend, as Contractors for public works. That partnership lasted for about welve years, during which the firm carried out many works of considerable importance, and at that time of more or less novelty. Among these may be mentioned the laying of the earliest underground telegraphs in England, those from London to Dover and London to Liverpool; the drainage, for the first time on the pipe-system, of the towns of Hitchin, Watford, Harrow and Worthing; and the construction of the water-tower at Worthing, and of the Lambeth Waterworks at Thames Ditton. On the dissolution of the partnership, Mr. Hamill became Engineer to the late W. Edward Price, Contractor, for whom he carried out some extensive works abroad, notably the construction of the Marseilles and Avignon Railway. He was subsequently Engineer to the late Mr. Charles Waring, then Contractor for the construction of the South Eastern Railway of Portugal, upon which work he was engaged between the years 1860 and 1866. In the latter year Mr. Hamill returned to England; but, although he took offices in Westminster, he may be said to have practically abandoned from that time the pursuit of the profession. For the remainder of his life he lived almost entirely alone, occupying himself with sketching and painting, and making frequent use of the Arundel Club of which he was a member. In character he was upright and conscientious, and very reserved— a quality no doubt developed by his studious habits. He was one of the most amiable and non-litigious of men, but nevertheless he became involved most unwillingly, and certainly not without cause, in litigation with the local authorities of Worthing. A report of the case may be found in The Times of the 10th of June, 1858. Mr. Hamill died on the 15th of January, 1802, at the age of 76. He was elected an Associate of the Institution on the 4th of December, 1860, and was transferred to the class of Associate Member on its creation in December, 1878.”

Dr. Coppinger, it may be mentioned, was a direct lineal descendant of Stephen Coppinger, living in the reign of Queen Elizabeth. An interesting history of the family was written some years ago, and edited by Walter Arthur Coppinger, barrister-at-law, entitled "History of the Copingers or Coppingers of Cork and the Counties of Suffolk and Kent." Dr. Coppinger's branch of the family were the Coppingers of Ballyvolane and Barryscourt, County Cork. In troublous times the family suffered much for their Catholic faith, life and estates being sacrificed through their staunch adherence to that religion. Many of its members have faithfully served King and country in the sister Services, and continue to do so. Probably Mr. Theweneti painted more portraits than any other artist in the neighbourhood, and many people have good examples of his painstaking work. He was a Roman Catholic, and regarded by those who knew him as a man of deep piety. See also St Mary's Churchyard, Smallcombe A.T.11.

Personal Estate £2,377 9s. 3d. From the Dictionary of National Biography (vol. 17): ROBINSON, MRS. MARTHA WALKER (1822-1888), writer on French history under her maiden name of Freer, daughter of John Booth Freer, M.D., was born at Leicester in 1822. Her first book, 'Life of Marguerite d'Angoulême, Queen of Navarre, Duchesse d'Alençon, and De Berry, Sister of Francis I,' appeared in 1854, in two volumes. In 1861 she married the Rev. John Robinson, rector of Widmerpool, near Nottingham, but all her works bear her maiden name. She continued publishing books dealing with French history until 1866. She died on 14 July 1888. Her works are mere compilations, although she claimed to have had access to manuscripts and other unpublished material. Although inferior in style and arrangement to the books of Julia Pardoc [q. v.] on similar subjects, they enjoyed for a time wide popularity. Two of them, 'Marguerite d'Angoulême', and 'Jeanne d'Albret' (1855), reached second editions. Mrs. Robinson died on 14 July 1888. Her other works are: 1. 'Elizabeth de Valois, Queen of Spain and the Court of Philip II,' 2 vols. 1857. 2. 'Henry III, King of France and Poland: his Court and Times,' 3 vols. 1858. 3. 'History of the Reign of Henry IV, King of France and Navarre,' part i, 2 vols. 1860; part ii. 2 vols. 1861; part iii. 2 vols. 1863. 4. 'The Married Life of Anne of Austria and Don Sebastian,' 2 vols. 1864. 5. 'The Regency of Anne of Austria,' 2 vols. 1866.

Names	Inscription	Notes
		The Catholic community at Prior Park, Bath, has been plunged into mourning by the death of one of its students at St Peter's Junior College, Joseph Leo Gaynor, aged 14, who hails from Dublin. He was the son of Mr P J Gaynor, of Middle Abbey street and Grosvenor road, Rathmines. The little fellow was much loved by his fellow students, and it is only those who have had the opportunity of understanding how great a care exercised over their charges by the respected president (Rev Bro W A Swan), the professors, and brethren, can fully comprehend the extent of the sorrow the death of the student, happily a very rare occurrence, involves. ... The funeral obsequies were carried out in the College Chapel. At 10 o'clock Mass commenced, the celebrant being Rev D G Hubert; he was assisted by the President and the Christian Brothers. The celebration was fully choral. After Mass a procession was formed to the burial ground at Perrymead, headed by the cross bearer and acolytes. The Brothers and students followed, succeeded by the choir and clergy. Then came the coffin with handsome brass fittings in an open hearse guarded on either side by torchbearers. A carriage contained the following mourners was in the rear:—Mr Peter J Gaynor (father), Mr Alfred Gaynor (brother), Miss Kennedy (aunt), and Mr Leo Keogh (cousin). At the graveside the Benediction was sung. There were four floral tributes, two of a permanent nature, from the students of St Peter's College, and from the deceased lad's father and mother, the remaining two being handsome crosses from the students of St Paul's College, and from the President and professors.
